

Cruise in ultimate comfort, fish in style!

Introducing the new Freedom 335!
Expand your pleasure in the largest outboard powered dual console ever built!

Grady-White unveils the jaw-dropping dual console Freedom 335 at the 2012 Miami International Boat Show on February 16! From super comfortable bow seating to the new-look helm station, to separate cabin and head consoles, to expansive companion seating and cockpit social areas including wet bar, all the way aft—Grady-White has created the next generation of open cruiser fishing boat that delivers a major “Wow!” factor while packing new features, stylish look and feel, greater value and total versatility into every inch of the biggest outboard dual console ever built. ## Be selective!

Here's the right way to use fuel system selector switches.

Watch the video

Fuel System Selector Switch

1. Many Grady-White models with two or more engines have two fuel tanks: a main tank and an auxiliary tank.
2. Fuel select valves are provided so you can choose which tank each engine draws from, the auxiliary or the main tank.
3. Normal procedure is for both engines to draw from the same tank until that tank is drawn down, and then both engines are shifted to the other tank.
4. The port engine valve switch is to port, and the starboard engine valve switch is to starboard. Turn the switches to point to the direction of the label for the tank you want to draw from.
5. When you're done for the day and the engines are shut off, return the fuel valves to the off position.
6. You can find more information in your owner's manual.
